The Delta Kitchen

Verna Broussard lived on the shores of Lake Borgne, about 60 miles East of New Orleans. She was an Old World Grande Dame, who was loved and respected by everyone in her part of the parish.

I passed my summers as a boy standing at Granny's knee. She taught me so many things - how to cook, how to waltz, and most memorably, how to keep a passion for the traditions, the music, and the foods of the Creoles.

When Granny Broussard passed, she left to me her many recipes, most of which I use today. My brother and I now seek to bring the Creole culture, food, good times, and love of St. Bernard and Orleans Parish to you all.

Our sincere desire is that you will enjoy and take with you a tiny piece of the enduring love Granny left behind.

Laissez les bon temps rouler, mon frère!
